Tenured Associate / Full Professor (12-month) position at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln with research and teaching responsibilities in bioprocess engineering with emphasis in utilizing the corn kernel to generate value added products beyond biofuels. Outstanding candidates with excellence in corn utilization research may be eligible for a Presidential Chair position. Outstanding candidates with administrative experience may be considered for position as Director of the Industrial Agricultural Products Center.

Minimum Qualifications: A Ph.D. or equivalent degree in Agricultural Engineering, Biological Systems Engineering, Chemical Engineering, Food Engineering or similar field is required. Experience in development of biobased products beyond biofuels and leadership of collaborative projects is required. Preferred Qualifications: Preference will be given to those demonstrating a vision for utilization of the corn kernel for valued added products beyond biofuels, a strong commitment to interdisciplinary research, excellent communication skills, and experience in cooperative work on multi-disciplinary, industry-connected teams. Required for the Professor level is evidence of an internationally recognized, externally supported, extensively published research program and evidence of teaching excellence. Demonstrated experience in innovation and vision for further utilization of the corn kernel and its components is needed for eligibility for a Presidential Chair position in this area. Demonstrated experience in administration of research teams is required for consideration of being named the Director of the Industrial Agricultural Products Center.

To view details of the position and make application, go to http://employment.unl.edu Search for position #F_150082. Click on Apply to this job. Complete the application. Attach a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, contact information for three professional references and a statement of research and teaching interests to be attached as other. Review of applications will begin on 6/1/2015 and continue until the position is filled or the search is closed.

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln is committed to a pluralistic campus community through affirmative action, equal opportunity, work-life balance, and dual careers.

How To Apply:
You can apply for this position online at https://employment.unl.edu/postings/44410