

Construction Management Opportunities

Pyramid Network Services is currently hiring Construction Managers for work in the rapidly growing field of wireless telecommunications. We build new tower sites and upgrade existing infrastructure for commercial wireless carriers and public safety communication networks across the United States.

We are interviewing experienced and entry-level applicants for positions throughout the Midwest. These positions are project-based, and will require extensive travel, depending upon project locations. We offer a competitive salary, all travel expenses are paid for by our company, and a full benefit package is available.

The ideal candidate will have experience in heavy construction, civil work and electrical systems. The ability to manage subcontractors, keep projects on track and on budget, and respond quickly to changing customer needs is required. We need independent self-starters that can work with minimal supervision on remote job locations. Work is approximately 75% in the field, and 25% from a home-based office.

Since 1996, Pyramid has been a premier force in the development of wireless communications throughout North America. We are headquartered in Syracuse, NY with office locations across the US and expanding internationally.
